OUR HIGHWAYS

Relative to Signs On Public Highways

The following self-explanatory letter was sent out, recently, by the State Highway Commission to officers in all the towns of the State:

"At a meeting of the State Highway Commission held on September 8, I was instructed to communicate with the chairmen of the board of selectmen of towns and the mayors of the cities in regard to the violation of the law regarding advertising signs."

Section 8, Chapter 189, P. L. 1913, reads as follows:

"Section 8.—No advertising signs shall be erected or maintained within 500 feet of crossings of highways or within 500 feet of where one public way enters another within the limits of such ways. The State highway department shall cause any signs so erected to be removed at the expense of the person erecting or maintaining the same, to be recovered in an action on the case. Such person shall also be subject to fine not exceeding fifty dollars to be paid to the treasurer of State and credited to the highway fund. The state highway department shall cause the provisions of sections ninety-one and ninety-two of chapter twenty-three of the revised statutes to be enforced on all state and state aid roads."

Sections 91 and 92 of Chapter 23 of the Revised Statutes reads as follows:

"Sec. 91. Towns shall erect and maintain at all crossings of highways, and where one public highway enters another, substantial guideposts not less than eight feet high, and fasten to the upper end of each a board, on which shall be plainly printed in black letters on white ground, the name of the next town on the route, and of such other place as the municipal officers direct, with the number of miles thereto, and a figure of a hand with a forefinger pointing thereto; and for any neglect herein, towns are subject to indictment, and fine not exceeding fifty dollars."

"Sec. 92. If the municipal officers of any town unreasonably neglect to cause a guide-post to be erected in their town as provided by law, they forfeit five dollars for each month's neglect, to be recovered in an action on the case by any person suing therefor. Plantations assessed in state or county taxes, and their officers, are under the same obligations and subject to the same penalties, in these respects as towns."

The commission respectfully requests the co-operation of each municipality in the State in the enforcement of this law, which in the opinion of the attorney general is mandatory.

Stomach Trouble; Wholly Rescued!

Mr. Wilson, 744 Toledo St., Toledo, Ohio, writes:

"I feel like a new person. I have no more heavy feelings, no more pain, don't belch up gas, can eat most anything without it hurting me. I want to be working all the time. I have gained twenty-four pounds."

"The fact that you are now so well, now, after two months ago seem to me, is a great thing. I tell them (Peruna did it) and say it is the only remedy for the stomach and all other ailments."

Cause of Road Failure

Heavy Horse-Drawn Teams Destroy Modern Construction

The Massachusetts Highway Commission after a full investigation, officially states in its annual report, recently issued, that the greatest cause of the destruction of modern roads is not the automobile nor the motor truck, but the heavily loaded vehicle drawn by horses.

In two instances quoted in the current report, 50 to 75 ice teams a day, carrying three tons or more each on 21-2 inch to 3-inch tires broke up within a month the side of the road on which the loaded teams traveled, while the surface lasted three months on the other side where the teams came back empty. For miles beyond the ice houses the roads are still in good condition. These roads are of macadam treated with heavy asphaltic oil.

The traffic study shows that it is not the number of teams, but heavy teams—two or more horses, and heavy loads on narrow tires—that cause the failure.

A carefully prepared statement as to the causes of wear, and what certain roads will stand is presented as one of the results of the careful traffic study entered on some years ago by the commission. Among the established results are the following:

A good gravel road will wear reasonably well under a daily traffic composed of 50 to 75 light teams, 25 to 30 loaded one horse vehicles, 10 to 12 loaded two or more horse drawn wagons, and 100 to 150 automobiles. With a large number of automobiles, the gravel should be oiled. The oiling presents what is spoken of as a "blanket surface" consisting of heavy asphaltic oil and sand. If the oil be applied hot, the blanket surface will last three to five years, if cold, it must be renewed every year.

Oiled gravel will stand fairly well under 75 to 100 light teams, 30 to 50 heavy one horse vehicles, 20 heavy wagons with two or more horses, and 500 to 700 automobiles daily.

Waterbound macadam will stand under a daily traffic of 175 to 200 light teams, 175 to 300 heavy one horse vehicles, and 60 to 80, perhaps more, heavy wagons with two or more horses. If even 50 to 100 automobiles per day go over the road at high speed dust layers will be serviceable. With a really good dust layer the road will stand 300 to 500 automobiles a day, although the stones will wear.

Waterbound macadam with an oil and sand blanket, applied hot, will be economical with 150 to 200 light teams, 75 to 100 heavy one-horse vehicles, 25 to 30 heavy wagons with two or more horses, and automobiles up to 1,400, or more, with fewer teams and with 50 or more motor trucks. The large number of automobiles seem to keep the oil rolled down when it would cut up and crumble without this traffic. This same road, however, will cut up and crumble under a traffic of 100 heavy one-horse vehicles and 50 two or more horse wagons on narrow tires, such as loaded farm wagons, ice wagons, loads of wood, etc.

The report further states: "Many millions of dollars are being spent in this commonwealth to secure improved roads, and provision should be made by law to prevent them from destruction. The law should fix some maximum weight per inch width of tire in contact with the ground."

Highway Bonds

Every County Will Get Its Equitable Share. Some State Roads Laid Out May Never Be Built.

From reports received from different parts of the state as well as articles that have appeared in the press, there seems to be a feeling in some sections that the proceeds of the $2,000,000 bonds that will be issued in the next four years for highway construction, will be expended in certain favored localities. This is wholly erroneous for the constitutional amendment authorizing the bond issue specifically provides that the money shall be expended equitably, not equally, in the several counties. This is not statutory law but a provision of the constitution itself, and cannot be abrogated by the Legislature or Highway Commission.

It should also be borne in mind that so far not a dollar of the proceeds of the bonds has been expended. The work that has been done on the so-called Kittery road last year and this, has been paid for from the unexpended balances of the regular annual state aid appropriation. The last Legislature appropriated $250,000 to aid towns that complied with the requirements of the old law. Not all the towns applied for state aid and as a result there was some $50,000 left this year, and the same has been true of previous years. The Legislature of 1911 provided that these unexpended balances should be expended on the road commencing at Kittery and running east. The new law, however, of 1913 repealed the law of 1912 and hereafter the unexpended balances will go into a fund for the maintenance of state roads, no matter where they are. In due time the Highway Commission will make an equitable apportionment to each county. What will be adopted for a basis of such apportionment is not known, but one thing is certain, it must be an equitable one. It would seem that population, valuation, mileage, and possibly the cost of construction of the roads in each county, all equally combined would form an equitable basis as could be devised.

There is, and will be considerable contention among the people of the different municipalities to have the state roads go through their towns and cities, and some even are suggesting practically parallel routes between different cities. This is contrary to the spirit of the law, to say the least. It must be remembered, however, that even if such routes are made state roads they may never be built, for only the amount apportioned to each county can be expended in that county. A hundred miles of state road may be laid out in a county, but if there is only money enough to construct twenty-five miles of road, of what value is it to have the other seventy-five miles designated as state road?

A good gravel road, properly drained will cost approximately $3000 a mile; macadam, $7000 to $8000; bituminous or cement, from $10000 to $15000. From the above figures one can get some idea of the number of miles of road that can be built in the state from the proceeds of $2,000,000. To be sure, we shall have to confine ourselves to the gravel road, and aside from one or two places in the state, I am not so sure but what it is the best road to build. However, what the people now desire is to see the dirt fly, not only in one place, but in nearly every county in the state. They are expecting a great deal, possibly too much from the Commission and chief engineer.

Will G. Richmond, a resident of Inglewood, Cal., will answer any inquiries about Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. He says further "Foley's Honey and Tar Compound has greatly benefited me for bronchial trouble and cough, after I used other remedies that failed. It is more like a food than a medicine." Canadian Immigration

A few days ago the fact was printed that 63,721 people from the United States had migrated to Canada during the five months ending September 1, a decrease of 19 per cent from last year for the same period. Canada feels elated over the newcomers and its papers boast of the money Yankee brawn is earning there. But here seems to be a story along different lines.

"During the 90 days ending with July, 10,000 Americans who had come to Canada went South again from British Columbia alone. Western Canada is flooded with immigrants and people from the East, her cities are already full of unemployed, and now that the harvest is over, we are going to have, in my opinion, probably the worst experience we have ever had so far."

Such was the rather depressing prediction made by W. R. Trotter of the Vancouver trades and labor council who was in Ottawa last week on his way to attend the 29th annual meeting of the trades and labor congress of Canada in Montreal. "There are special reasons why the immigration is of burning interest this year," he stated. "The country is now flooded from one end to the other with thousands of people who can not get work; railway staffs and those of manufacturers, business houses and the like have been reduced. The chief immigration inspector for the United States in Vancouver told me 10,000 American citizens left Canada for the South again during the 90 days ending July 31 through three British Columbia ports alone."

Don't Know They Have Appendicitis

Many Houlton people who have chronic Houltonitis, which is not very painful, have doctored for years for gas on the stomach, sour stomach and constipation. French & Son, druggists, states if these people will try a SINGLE DOSE of simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as compounded in Adler-i-ka, the remedy which became famous by curing appendicitis, they will be surprised at the INSTANT benefit. advtg

Endurance Counts Most

WHEN your sheds are full of machines and one or two are crowded out into the open, which is it that invariably stands outside with the sun and the wind beating on it every day, drying and warping the wood, or with rain rusting the iron? It's the wagon. Other machines are stored away, dry and covered, yet many of them work for short seasons only. The wagon works the year around, is always under the strain of heavy burdens, always getting rough treatment. It can't stand the strain of such a life for many years unless, like IHC wagons—

Weber Columbus New Bettendorf Steel King

it has built into it the utmost of endurance, toughness, and sturdiness. IHC wagons are built of wood of very best quality, every bit as good as they look. Look them over, you don't find any cross grained, knotty, split, or faulty timber. Every stick—oak and hickory for the wheels, yellow or bay poplar for box sides and long leaf yellow pine for bottoms, is selected from first grade lumber and carefully inspected. Every stick is toughened and seasoned by two or three years of air-drying.

All steel and iron parts are chosen with the same end in view—greatest durability and longest life. Experts test and verify every part. Before the wagon is ready for you it must pass many thorough inspections. The timber, metal, shaping and fitting, painting, every detail must be just right.

Buy one now, watch its steady service on your farm, and mark this—your future reliance will be on the IHC wagon. That future order is our ultimate aim. This is the starting law, but a provision for distribution itself, and cannot be altered by the Legislature or Highway Commission.

It should also be borne in mind that so far not a dollar of the proceeds of the bonds has been expended. The work that has been done of the so-called "Kittery road" and this has been paid for out of unexpended balances of a former annual state and appropriation. The first Legislature appropriating $200,000 to aid towns that complied with the requirements of the act of 1911. Not all the towns applied for state aid and as a result there was some $100,000 left this year and the same has been true of previous years. Graves—Vincent

A pretty home wedding took place Saturday noon at the residence of Mrs. Amy Vincent, Green St., when her daughter, Harriet, was united in marriage to Mr. Wm. H. Graves of Presque Isle.

The single ring service was used. Rev. F. Clark Harby officiating. The bride was prettily attired in cream chiffon over white messaline and carried a bouquet of white carnations and ferns.

Mrs. Graves is a well known Houlton girl, a graduate of H. H. S. class '09, also of P. I. Normal School, class '13 of which she was president.

Mr. Graves is one of Presque Isle's promising young men where he is employed as a painter. Delicate refreshments were served after which the happy couple took their departure amid showers of rice and confetti, for Presque Isle, where they will make their future home.

Satan

The Greatest Picture Ever Produced

The management of the Dream Theatre has secured for its patrons the greatest picture production "Satan" or the Drama of Humanity, and will be shown on Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 15 and 16.

This great feature film cost upward of $200,000 to produce and took four months of continuous work to complete. It is played by the most noted European artists and is acknowledged by the press to be the greatest educational and instructive picture ever produced. This play is shown in its entirety in four reels embracing hundreds of beautiful scenes.

Part 1 deals with scenes based on Milton's "Paradise Lost" and shows Satan, the evil spirit of Heaven, revealing his power and fighting against the Good.

After being driven from Heaven he sees the earth and decides to take this his Kingdom, his first victims being Adam and Eve who are swayed by his evil power.

Part 2 deals with scenes from Klopstock's "Messiah" the scene being laid in Jerusalem showing the Savior, the Apostles and all of the events which lead to the betrayal by Judas and the crucifixion, and the final overwhelming defeat of Satan and his power, as in triumph the soul of Jesus comes forth from the sepulchre and ascends to Heaven.

Part 3 deals with Satan and his powerful ally alcohol and the scenes the act are laid in the convent of Good Work in the Middle Ages. Satan installs himself in the good graces of the Monks, and finally after inducing his newly made friends to taste of the alcoholic beverage, all fall under the influence of the fatal poison and are destroyed.

Then we see Satan glorious in his work of destruction, taking a cup of the accursed poison he toasts to the ruin and destruction of the human race.

Part 4 brings us down to modern times and shows Satan in another character symbolic of all bad passions. This act deals with the lives of two innocent young people who are tempted by Satan's overpowering influence and are finally overcome with sin and are destroyed, and again we see Satan glorying in the ruin he has caused and smiling in triumph upon his work.

This feature photo play has caused a sensation wherever it has been shown and has received much favorable comment from the press, clergy and the public. Remember the date and embrace this opportunity of seeing the greatest picture ever sent across the Atlantic.

Terrible Suffering

Eczema All Over Baby's Body.
"When my baby was four months old his face broke out with eczema, and at sixteen months of age, his face, hands and arms were in a dreadful state. The eczema spread all over his body. We had to put a mask or cloth over his face and tie up his hands. Finally we gave him Hood's Sarsaparilla and in a few months he was entirely cured. Today he is a healthy boy." Mrs. Ines Lewis, Bangor, Maine.
Hood's Sarsaparilla cures blood diseases and builds up the system. Get it today in usual liquid form or chocolate tablets called Sarsatabs.

CAUTION

Whereas my wife Ida M. March having left my bed and board, I hereby warn anyone trusting or harboring her on my account as I will not pay any debts contracted by her after this date.

U. S. Customs

The following notice has been given out by J. P. Dudley, deputy collector of customs:

"Although the duties have been removed from all domestic food animals they are still subject to the inspection and quarantine laws of the Department of Agriculture; that all meats which are now free of duty are subject to very strict inspection regulations, the exact text of which we have not as yet been supplied with, and that all merchandise free of duty must be regularly entered the same as if dutiable. All imported merchandise is liable to seizure and forfeiture for non-compliance in the same manner as goods imported with the evasion of payment of duty, and we desire that the general public may understand the conditions in order that no person acting in good faith but without knowledge of conditions may get into difficulty thereby."

Mrs. Ellen Deboice

The death of Mrs. Ellen Deboice which occurred at her home, Sept. 10, in Woodstock, closed the record of long years well spent. Born in Liverpool, England, 78 years ago, she came with her husband to Woodstock in 1886 and has lived for fifty years here. She raised a family of four children, two sons have pre-deceased her, also her husband, who died twenty-eight years ago. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. A. F. Winslow and Mrs. E. B. Cornelison of Houlton, Me., nine grand-children and five great-grandchildren. Although living a busy life she was always ready to extend kindly offices to those in distress and sorrow, and so endeared herself to all. She was a life-long adherent of the Episcopal church.

The funeral was held from her home, the service being conducted by the Rev. A. S. Hazel. A quartette from St. Luke's choir sang the hymns, "On the Resurrection Morn" and "Abide With Me." The pall bearers were: J. C. Milmore, W. L. Wise, Wm. Walker and D. Walker. Interment was in the Methodist Cemetery. Many beautiful flowers were sent by relatives and friends—Dispatch.

The Phyllisian Entertainers

Appear as the first in a series of five entertainments, of high order, to be given at the Grange Hall, Houlton, during the season of 1913-1914. The company is composed of two young ladies Miss Phyllis Hammond and Miss Area Farron, both artists in their line.

Miss Hammond, is an accomplished pupil of Professor Heinrich Schuecker, the noted harpist of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. She is a musician of great talent and wherever engaged her music has always proved a most important part of the program. In solo work her skill has placed her in the first rank of harpists. In ensemble work she has played with great success with such noted musicians as Mr. Emanuel Fiedler, and Mr. Adolph Bak, first violinist of Boston Symphony Orchestra.

Miss Farron is one of the few entertainers "born not made." She pleases the people, by giving in her natural and vivacious manner the interpretations of life at its best, according to the conception of one who lives free and untrammelled by the meaningless conventionalities and outgrown traditions of so-called "dramatic art." In combination with Miss Hammond she has arranged a program of unusual merit, introducing well known musical stories with effective Musical Settings.

This entertainment consisting of monologues, harp solos, stories and special double numbers.

This will be given at the Grange Hall, October 23.

Fort Kent Bridge

At the last session of the Legislature the question of a bridge across the St. John River from Fort Kent to Clair, N. B. was brought up, and it was finally decided to appropriate the sum of $15,000 for such a bridge, provided that the Town of Fort Kent would raise $5,000, and the County furnish $10,000, the same amount, $30,000, having been appropriated by the Dominion Government, the St. John River being an international boundary.

The town of Fort Kent raised their allotment, and according to the conditions it is within the power of the County Com's to appropriate $10,000 which if they decide, will have to be done at the next meeting of the Board in Houlton next month.

There is no question about the great benefit to that section from such a bridge, and yet the bridge at Van Buren was built practically by an appropriation from the State and the Dominion Government, excepting a small amount for the approaches coming from other sources.

This fact and also that only a comparatively small section of the county would be benefited from this expenditure makes it difficult for the County Com's to decide whether to put in $10,000 or not.

Look! g at it from both sides it is certain, a difficult problem for this body to determine.

Grange Entertainment

The many people who attended the course of entertainments last year at the Grange Hall will be pleased to learn that committee has just completed arrangements with the Eastern Lyceum Bureau, Boston, to give a course of five lectures. They will appear as follows: Phyllisian Entertainers, October 29, Pitt Parker, November 24, The Gales, December 20, Boston Quintet and Reader, Jan. 29, Jubilee Singers, February 10.

Senior Class H. H. S.

The Senior Class at High School has decided, that in place of the regular costly graduating exercises this year, a trip to Washington would be much more desirable and beneficial.

Each year, classes make this trip from schools all over the United States and it is found that the experience is of exceptional educational value.

Of course an undertaking of this kind means money, and money means work but we believe that the class of 1914 is capable of doing this and hope to have the public's support in our plan for raising funds.

We shall be very glad to receive any comments or suggestions and sincerely hope that every citizen of Houlton will be interested in this new proposition.

Very respectfully,
The Senior Class of Houlton High School.

W. C. T. U.

On Sunday, Oct. 5, occurred the regular jail meeting of the W. C. T. U. The meeting was in charge of the president, Mrs. Frances McLeod, assisted by Mrs. C. E. Dunn. The music was in charge of Miss Downes and was enjoyed by all. Mrs. Hess, wife of Rev. J. L. Hess of the Presbyterian church, addressed a meeting in both wards and each meeting was profitable and helpful.

On Tuesday, Oct. 7, at the Congregational church a Mothers' meeting was held under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. The speaker, Mrs. C. M. Ellsworth, who represents the Florence Crittenton League, of the compassion of Boston, delivered a thrilling address which was listened to with profound attention by the large number of ladies present.

On Thursday, Oct. 9, the regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held. A short parliamentary drill was given by the superintendent, Mrs. E. B. Bunn and a brief talk on Systematic Giving by Mrs. C. E. Dunn completed the program. The meeting was interesting and well attended.

The next regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held on Thursday, Oct. 23 at which time the program will be "The Power of Woman" (without the ballot and with the ballot) in charge of J. L. Wilson.

Church of the Good Shepherd

Sunday, Oct. 13th services as follows:

A. N. 7:30 Holy communion: 10:30 morning prayer with sermon: 11:15 Sunday school: P. M. 7, evening prayer with sermon. At the evening service there will be special music rendered by the choir, Prof. J. H. Lindsay, organist. Rev. Geo. S. Robinson will deliver the third lecture of the Sunday evening course on the subject of the History of Church Music. This lecture will prove to be instructive and interesting to the audience.

There will be divine service in the Koon Memorial Chapel, Littleton, on Sunday, Oct. 19th at 3 P. M.

Wednesday, Oct. 15th the Good Shepherd branch of the Woman's Auxiliary is to meet in Watson hall at 2 P. M.; the Guild of the Good Shepherd will meet at the rectory at 7:30 P. M.

Elaborate preparations are being made by the committees in charge for the annual parish reception of the Church of the Good Shepherd which is to be held in Watson hall on Wednesday evening, Oct. 22.

The program is as follows: 8 P. M. Roll call of every baptized member of the Parish.

Brief History of the Parish given by the rector.

Reports of Committees on Parochial work.

Musical, vocal and instrumental, concert given under the auspices of the Guild of the Good Shepherd.

Refreshments under the auspices of the Women's auxiliary will be served.

Music by the orchestra and instrumental band.

All members of the Parish are invited to be present at the annual reception and take part in the evening festivities.

Athletics Win Championship

The Philadelphia Athletics win the deciding game in the 1913 series, thereby capturing the coveted pennant.

The New York Giants were outclassed in every point of the series.

FINAL STANDING WORLD'S SERIES—1913

Clubs	Won	Lost	Per Cent
Philadelphia (A. L.)	4	1	.800
New York (N. Y.)	1	4	.200

The score of each contest follows:

First game—Athletics 6, Giants 4.

Second game—Giants 3, Athletics 0.

Third game—Athletics 3, Giants 2.

Fourth game—Athletics 6, Giants 5.

Fifth and deciding game—Athletics 3, Giants 1.

The players' share of the receipts for the world series games this year totals $135,163.89. This covered the first four games, which according to the rules, all the players are allowed to share in. The National Commission receiving all that is paid in for games over the four-game limit.

The players on the winning team will receive 60 per cent. of the amount above, making $81,098.33, while the losing team will receive the balance, or $54,065.56.

This will give each player on the winning team $3,249.93, while each player on the losing team will get $2,703.28.

Last year the players' share reached the record mark in the series between the Giants and the Red Sox, when the two teams split $147,552, giving the players approximately $4,000 and 3,000 each.

In 1911 the Giants and Athletics drew down $128,910.

Put Down Good LINOLEUM

When you put down new Linoleum this fall, bear in mind "The Best is the Cheapest."

The name "Linoleum" covers a multitude of sins. It varies from a thin sheet of coarse cloth filled with a sort of paint, to a thick substance of cork and oil that resists moisture and wears indefinitely.

We are showing the very latest patterns and the prices are right. Do not wait until cold weather it is much harder to give you a good job.

than a rude stare of admiration. Small wonder, let it be advanced in his defense.

She was astoundingly fair to look upon—dazzlingly, it might be said, with some support to the adjective. Moreover, she was looking directly into his eyes from her unstable position near the door. What was more, a shy, even mischievous, smile crept into her face as her glance caught his. Never had he seen a more exquisite face than hers. Never had he looked upon a more perfect picture of grace and loveliness and—aye—smartness. She was smiling with unmistakable friendliness and recognition, and yet he could have sworn he had not seen her before in his life. As if he could have forgotten such a face! A sudden sense of enchantment swept over him, indescribable yet delicious.

She was coming toward him, still smiling shyly, her lips parted, as if she were breathing quickly from fear or another emotion. He set down his coffee cup without regard to taste or direction, his gaze fixed upon the trim, slender figure in blue. He now saw that her dark eyes were filled with a soft seriousness that belied her brave smile. A delicate pink had come into her clear, high bred face. The hesitancy of the gentleman enveloped her with a mantle that shielded her from any suspicion of boldness. Brock struggled to his feet, amazement written in his face.

"Good morning, Roxbury," she said in the most impersonal of greetings. Her smile deepened as the blankness increased in his face. In the most casual, matter of fact manner she appropriated the chair across the table from his. "Please sit down, Roxbury."

He sat down abruptly. For a single tense, abashed moment they looked searchingly into each other's eyes.

"Are you Raggles?" he asked politely.

"You poor man!" she cried, aghast. "Raggles is Edith's French poodle. Has no one told you of the poodle?"

She half whispered this. He began to adore her at that very moment, a circumstance well worth remembering.

"No one has told me of you, for that matter," he apologized, thrilling with a delight such as he had never known before. "Would you mind whispering to me just who you are? Am I supposed to be your father—or what?"

"It is all so delightfully casual, isn't it?" she said. "I daresay they forgot to tell you that you are a man of family. Didn't they mention me in any way at all?" She pouted very prettily.

"No, they ignored you and Raggles and Tootles. Are there any more in my family that I haven't met?"

"You see, we got to the station quite a bit ahead of Edith. That's how you happened to miss meeting us. We saw you there, however. I recognized you by your clothes. You seemed very unhappy. Oh, I forgot! You wanted to know who I am. Well, I am your sister-in-law."

"CHAPTER IV.
"I am Constance."

SHE ordered coffee and toast while he sat there figuring it out. When the waiter departed he leaned forward and said quite frankly:

"You'll pardon me, I'm sure, but I can't understand how I was so short-sighted as to marry your sister."

"Well, you see, you didn't catch a glimpse of me until after you were married," she rallied. "I was in the Sacred Heart convent, you remember."

"Ah, that explains the oversight. I am considered an unusually discriminating person. Let me see: I married a Miss Fowler, didn't I?"

"Yes, Roxbury—four years ago in London, at St. George's, in Hanover square, at 4 o'clock on a Saturday. Didn't they tell you all that?"

"I don't think they said anything about it being 4 o'clock. I'm glad to know the awful details, believe me. Thanks! Do you know I decided you were an American the instant I saw you in the door." He went on, quite irrelevantly.

"How clever of you, Roxbury!"

"Oh, I say, Miss Fowler, I'm not such an ass as I look—really I'm not. I'm trying to look like—"

"Sh! If you want me to believe you are not the ass you think you look be careful what you say. Remember I am not Miss Fowler to you. I am Constance—sometimes Connie. Can you remember that, Roxbury?"

He drew a long breath. "Oh, I say, Constance, I'd much rather be plain Brock to you."

"Please don't forget that I am doing this for my sister, not for myself by any manner of means," she said stiffly. He flushed painfully, conscious of the rebuke.

"Please overlook my faults for the time being," he said. "I'll do better. You see, I've been rather overcome by the sense of my own importance. I'm not used to being the head of an establishment. It has dazed me. A great many things have happened to me since I left the Gare de l'Est last night." He was considerate in not referring to his unhappy mode of traveling. "For instance, I've completely lost my head." He might have said that, but that would have sounded commonplace and earthy.

"One does, you know, when he loses his identity," she said sympathetically. "Edith says you are ripping and all that sort of thing," she went on hurriedly, in perfect mimicry. "You come very highly recommended as a brother-in-law."

"Are you to be with us until the end of the play?"

"Yes. The Rodneys are my friends, not Edith's. Katherine Rodney was in the convent with me. We see a great deal of each other. I'm sure you will like her. Everybody falls dreadfully in love with her."

"How very amiable of you to permit it," he protested gallantly. "I'm sure I shall enjoy falling in love. Which reminds me that I've never had a sister-in-law. They're very nice, I'm told. It's odd that Medcroft didn't tell me about you. Would you mind advancing a bit of general information about yourself—and, may I say, about my family in general? It may come handy."

"I feel as though I had known you for years," she said, frankly returning his gaze. She leaned forward, her elbows on the table, her chin in her hands. "I'm merely Edith's sister. We live in Paris—that is, father and I. Of course you know how old your wife is, so we won't dwell upon that. You don't? Then I'd demand it of her. I haven't been in Philadelphia since I was seven, and that's ages ago. I have no mother, and father is off in South America on business. So you see little sister has to tag after big sister. Oh!" She interrupted the recital with an abrupt change of manner. "I'm so sorry you've finished your coffee. Now you'll have to go. Roxbury pleases does."

"But I haven't finished," he exclaimed eagerly. "I've come to have three or four more pots. You have no idea how!"

"It's all right," she said, with her sweetest and most confident smile. "Well, Edith asked me to come to London for the season. The Rodneys were in Paris at the time, however, and they asked me to join them for a fortnight in the Tyrol. When I said that I was off for a visit with them, you, I mean, they insisted that I all should come too. They are connections in a way, don't you see? So we accepted. And here we are."

"You don't, by any chance, happen to be engaged to be married, or anything of that sort?" he ventured. "Don't crush me! It's only as a safeguard, you know. People may ask questions."

"You are not obliged to answer them, Roxbury," she said. The flush had deepened in her cheek. It convinced him that she was in love—and engaged. He experienced a queer sinking of the heart. "You can say that you don't know, if any one should be so rude as to ask." Suddenly she caught her breath and stared at him in a sort of panic. "Heavens!" she whispered, the toast poised half way to her lips, "you're not, by any chance, engaged, are you? Appalling thought!"

He laughed delightedly. "People won't ask about me, my dear Constance. I'm already married, you know. But if any one should ask you're not obliged to answer."

She looked troubled and uncertain. "You may be really married, after all," she speculated. "Who knows? Poor old Roxbury wouldn't have had the tact to inquire."

"I'm a henpecked bachelor, believe me."

For the next quarter of an hour they chatted in the liveliest, most inconsequential fashion, getting on excellent terms with each other and arriving at a fair sense of appreciation of what lay ahead of them in the shape of peril and adventure.

She was the most delightful person he had ever met, as well as being the most beautiful. There was a sprightly, ever growing air of self-reliance about her that charmed and reassured him. She possessed the capacity for divining the sane and the ridiculous with splendid discrimination. Moreover, she could jest and be serious with an impartial intelligence that gratified his vanity without in the least inspiring the suspicion that she was merely clever. He became blissfully imbued with the idea that she had surprised herself by the discovery that he was really quite attractive. In fact, he was quite sincerely pleased with himself—for which he may be pardoned if one stops to think how resourceful a woman of tact may be if she is very, very pretty.

And, by way of further analogy, Brock was a thoroughly likable chap, besides being handsome and a thoroughbred to the core. It's not betraying a secret to affirm, coldbloodedly, that Miss Fowler had not allied herself with the enterprising until after she had pinned Roxbury down to facts concerning Brock's antecedents. She was properly relieved to find that he came of a fine old family and that he had led more than one cotillion in New York.

He experienced a remarkable change of front in respect to Roxbury Medcroft before the breakfast was over. It may have been due to the spell of her eyes or to the call of her voice, but it remains an unchallenged fact that he no longer thought of Medcroft as a stupid bungler. Instead he had come to regard him as a good and irreproachable Samaritan. All of which goes to prove that a divinity shapes our ends, rough hew them how we may.

"I'm sure we shall get on famously," he said, as she signified her desire to return to the compartment. "I've always longed for a nice, agreeable sister-in-law."

BANKRUPT'S PETITION FOR DIS-

CHARGE.

In the matter of John A. Orr In Bankruptcy.

To the HON. CLARENCE HALE, Judge of the District Court of the United States for the District of Maine.

JOHN A. ORR of Macondis in the County of Aroostook and State of Maine, in said District respectfully represents, that on the 26th day of Oct., 1912 he was duly adjudged bankrupt under the Act of Congress relating to bankruptcy; that he has duly surrendered all his property and rights of property, and has fully complied with all the requirements of said Act and of the orders of Court touching his bankruptcy.

WHEREFORE HE PRAYS, That he may be decreed by the Court to have a full discharge from all debts provable against his estate, under said bankruptcy Acts, except such debts as are excepted by law from such discharge.

Dated this 8th day of Sept. A. D. 1913.

JOHN A. ORR, Bankrupt.

ORDER OF NOTICE HEREON

DISTRICT OF MAINE, ss.

On this 11th day of Oct., A. D. 1913, on reading the foregoing petition, it is—

ORDERED BY THE COURT, That a hearing be had upon the same on the 21st day of Nov. A. D. 1913, before said Court at Portland, in said District, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon; and that notice thereof be published in the Aroostook Times, a newspaper printed in said District, and that all known creditors and other persons in interest, may appear at the said time and place, and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

AND IT IS FURTHER ORDERED BY THE COURT, That the Clerk shall send by mail to all known creditors copies of said petition and this order, addressed to them at their places of residence as stated.

Witness the Honorable Clarence Hale,
Judge of the said Court, and the seal thereof, at Portland, in said District, on the 11th day of Oct. A. D. 1913.

COD LIVER OIL AND IRON

Two Most World-Famed Tonics
Combined in Vinol.

Cod Liver oil and Iron have proved to be the two most successful tonics the world has ever known—iron for the blood and the medicinal curative elements of cod liver oil as a strength and tissue builder for body and nerves, and for the successful treatment of throat and lung troubles.

Two eminent French chemists discovered a method of separating the curative medicinal elements of the cods' livers from the oil or grease which is thrown away, but to these medicinal elements tonic iron is now added, thus combining in Vinol the two most world famed tonics.

As a body-builder and strength creator for weak, run-down people, for feeble old people, delicate children, to restore strength after sickness;
and for chronic coughs, colds, bronchitis or pulmonary troubles we ask you to try Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you.

P. S. For pimples and blotches try

" 13	6 " " "

There were shipped over the B. &
A. from Aroostook County up to Oct. 10, 2,298,867 bushels from the 1913 crop.

The potato harvest has been progressing during the past week and while the weather was exceptionally warm for this season of the year, it is not thought that anything serious will develop from it.

Never before has the yield been as great per acre as this season, and the cases are numerous where the product has been 150 and 200 barrels to the acre.

The report of the government early in this season that 100,000 bushels was the amount of the potato shortage in the United States was probably as nearly correct as an estimate could be at that time, but since then, many of the short states have cleaned their stock, and it is necessary to make a new estimate, taking into account the so-called winter states.

These are Wisconsin, Minnesota,
Michigan, New York and Maine.
It is estimated that Maine's crop will be about 25,000,000 or 26,000,000 bushels, that is 3,000,000 or 4,000,000 bushels over the normal crop.
Michigan also will produce more than normal, from 2,000,000 to 3,000,000 bushels over. Minnesota and Wisconsin will produce a normal crop. New York is 50 per cent short, and Ohio is 50,000,000 bushels short.

This makes the total shortage in these states about 22,000,000 bushels.
Owing, however, to the shortage in Kansas and Indiana, it is probable that not much of the Michigan stock will go to New York, which is our market. The national shortage is about 20,000,000 bushels.

Contracts have been made for seed potatoes in Aroostook county for delivery in March at $2 for 165 pounds net in sacks, f. o. b. landing station.

Potatoes will rule high on the average, and yet indications do not show that they will reach the highest mark by any means.

The Produce News says:

NEW YORK

With 230 cars at 3rd street, 125 at Harlem River and 400 held in Boston, the potato market started on a downward slide. Monday, each day showing a steady decline. On Thursday $2.10 and 2.25 was the range in the Harlem River yards, with an occasional sale at $2.25. The bulk of business was done around $2 per 150 lb. bag, this price not including the sacks. Receipts have been steadily all week, and the only thing which prevented a smash was a good trade, resulting from lower prices.
Practically everything coming in from Maine. Cobblers are about run out and Green Mountains rule. The quality is very good, although an occasional car from Aroostook County shows rot. Offers from Maine are liberal, as shippers are getting ears more freely. Maine shippers are quoting $1.40 and $1.45 in River delivery and are paying farmers $1.25 and 1.45 per 165-lb. bids.

New York shippers are quoting all kinds of prices. As yet there is no general basis for trading, most goods going to interior markets and into the Ohio River Valley. There is little demand for States this far, because of the preference for Maine.
The quality of State stock is good,
but until shippers get their views down to a basis under Maine, there will be little actual competition with goods from that State. Shippers are paying all the way from 55c at some points to 65 and 70c at others. This is the price to the farmer. With freight and other charges added, the State potatoes would have to sell for more money than Maine are bringing in order for the shipper to come clear. In spite of this, however, a few cars came in this week. Prospects are for f. o. b. prices to work down next week, both on States and Michigan.

A few are already storing. Most large operators are holding back expecting to get stock for $1 which is the usual storage basis. Brokers who have recently covered the Maine field say that they have never seen such fine quality as Maine stock this year. Not only is the quality fine but there is a wide variety of in the Aroostook section, as well as Central Maine. Conservative judges say that estimates of the crop would be considerably exceeded, as the yield is turning out better than had been expected.

ST. LOUIS

Under liberal offerings market is weak, and tending downward. The weather suddenly turned wet and sultry, and there was a heavy falling off in the demand. Prices are sagged lots, on track, Rurals, Burbanks and Early Ohio, 68 and 70c;
sand land Ohio, 62 and 65c.

Gray---Smith

The marriage of M. William Gray of Houlton to Miss Evelyn Smith of Bridge-water took place at the home of the bride's parents, Friday, Oct.
10.

Mr. Gray is the son of Samuel Gray, formerly of Houlton, now of Bucksport, and a graduate of the Houlton High school in the class of 1908 and of the U. of M. in the class of 1912. Mr. Gray for a time was at Good Will Farm as instructor in agriculture, but is now employed by the Buffalo Fertilizer Co. as a salesman.

Miss Smith also is well known in this town and the best wishes of hosts of friends will follow them to their new home.

Both have many friends in Houlton who extend congratulations.
They will reside in Unity.

Why Salves Can't Cure Eczema

Since the old-fashioned theory of curing eczema through the blood has been given up by scientists, many different salves have been tried for skin diseases.
But it has been found that these salves only clog the pores and cannot penetrate to the inner skin below the epidermis where the eczema germs are lodged.
This—the quality of penetrating—probably explains the tremendous success of the well known liquid eczema remedy, oil of wintergreen, thymol, glycerine, etc., as compounded in D.D.D.
Prescription.

The deep Ash Hod in the base—with Coal Hod beside it — (patented) is better than the old clumsy Ash

Pan. Easy to remove and carry — doesn't spill the ashes.

tea is the result of care and experience in blending—much be the combination of fine flavor, smooth strength and richness. Because all these elements are so generously included in Red Rose Tea it well merits the term "good tea."

Still a Chance.

"What's the matter?" "She has rejected me again. She says this is final." "Did she say how final?" Inquired the older and more experienced man.—Washington Herald.

Henry A. Johnston, a business man of L'Anse, Mich., writes: "For years, Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for coughs and cold has been our family medicine. We give to our children, who like it on account of its pleasant taste. It is a safe cure for coughs and colds." It contains no opiates. Broadway Pharmacy. advtg

GADDIS OF THE HIMALAYAS

Tribe of Nomad Shepherds Whose Very Origin Is Matter of Conjecture.

Far away in the central Himalayas lives a tribe of nomad shepherds whose very origin is a matter of conjecture. They are known as Gaddis, and are as distinctly separate from the other tribes of these mountains as are the Ainos from the Japanese. They were once dwellers in the plains, but at some remote period were driven to the hills, and they are now confined to the western Himalayas, where there are extensive grazing grounds. Here they are partly tillers of the soil, as well as shepherds, for their women-folk, who do not accompany the flocks, work in the fields, and some of the men also remain in the villages to assist them.

They are fine hardy men, these Gaddis, and their women are sometimes beautiful. They scorn the use of tents or shelters of any kind, and provided only with a blanket of goat's hair, which they make themselves, and which is practically waterproof, one and all of them remain for months together, at altitudes varying from 13,000 to 17,000 feet, exposed to snow, wind and rain, without any ill effect to their health. It must be remembered, however, that they are trained to it, for the boys, at a very early age, are made to accompany their fathers in their wanderings.—Wide World.

Home-Keeping Women and Health and Strength

The work of a home-keeping woman makes a constant call in her strength and vitality, and sickness comes through her kidneys and bladder often than she knows. Foley Kidney Pills will invigorate and restore her, and weak back, nervousness, aching joints and irregular bladder action will all disappear when Foley Kidney Pills are used. SEVERE SKIN AFFECTION.

Cured by Our Reliable Skin Remedy, Saxo Salve.

"I suffered from a severe skin affection so I could not sleep nights. I was almost crazy with itching. I would scratch and almost tear myself to pieces. I tried a great many remedies without relief. When I saw Saxo Salve advertised I decided to try it and one tube entirely cured me. I recommend it wherever I go."—A. L. Morgan, Endicott, N. Y.

Many persons around here suffer so much from eczema that they cannot sleep at night. Saxo Salve stops the terrible itching and soothes and heals the eruptions.

In all kinds of eczema, salt rheum, tetter, barber's itch, etc., Saxo Salve has wonderful healing power because it penetrates the skin pores and destroys the germs at the very seat of the disease.

We give back your money if Saxo Salve does not help you.
